

Harvard Medical School Orientation and Resource Guide

Updated May 2020

PREFACE

Welcome the Harvard Medical School (HMS) Community! This Orientation Guide is published by the Office for Diversity Inclusion and Community Partnership (DICP) to help incoming faculty, fellows, residents, and students become acquainted with the Harvard Medical School campus, its affiliated hospitals, and the surrounding areas.

As a resource for underserved and marginalized communities, this guide delves into sources of support at Harvard Medical School, Harvard University, affiliated institutions, and beyond. This guide features services that cater to minority consumers, as well as other businesses, services and resources in the greater Boston area, including diversity-related offices and faculty development offices at HMS and affiliates. In addition to these offices, Harvard University programs, organizations, and safety resources provide community members with a sense of belonging and security. Not only does this guide depict the HMS community, but it illustrates neighboring communities through restaurants, local events, multicultural festivals, museums, concert halls, and more.

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL (HMS)

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL MISSION STATEMENT:

To nurture a diverse, inclusive community dedicated to alleviating suffering and improving health and well-being for all through excellence in teaching and learning, discovery and scholarship, and service and leadership.

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL DIVERSITY STATEMENT:

Harvard Medical School is committed to convening and nurturing a diverse community of individuals dedicated to promoting excellence and leadership in medicine and science through education, research, clinical care and service. Our unique perspectives, talents, experiences and contributions as HMS students, trainees, faculty, staff and administrators are the foundation and drivers of our excellence.

We acknowledge the strengths and weaknesses of our history and actively promote social justice, challenge discrimination and address disparities and inequities.

We celebrate the multiple dimensions of diversity that each member of our community offers, including, but not limited to, race, ethnicity, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, socioeconomic circumstance, national origin, geographic background, immigration status, ability and disability, physical characteristics, veteran status, political ideology, religious belief and age.

We provide a safe environment where all members of our community can engage in dialogue, question, learn and contribute to their fullest potential.

We respect the dignity of all members of our community and aspire to ensure that all feel valued and supported.

We provide education and training that emphasize respect for differences in culture, language and life experience and that address both health disparities and the role that implicit and explicit bias can play in decision making.

We advance diversity and inclusion in recruitment, admissions, hiring, retention and promotion.

We prioritize diversity and inclusion as we develop HMS policies, practices and procedures.

We support community engagement and partner with our local, national and global communities to advance the diversity pipeline and eliminate health disparities.

We continuously monitor our diversity and inclusion efforts to ensure that the outcomes bring HMS closer to reflecting the diversity found in our patients, community and nation.

We each belong to the HMS community.

We are Harvard Medicine.

OFFICE FOR DIVERSITY INCLUSION AND COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIP (DICP) MISSION

The mission of the Office for Diversity Inclusion and Community Partnership (DICP) is to advance diversity inclusion in health, biomedical, behavioral, and STEM fields that build individual and institutional capacity to achieve excellence, foster innovation, and ensure equity in health locally, nationally, and globally.

About DICP:

The Office for Diversity Inclusion and Community Partnership (DICP) was established in 2002 (originally named Faculty Development and Diversity, est. 1995) to promote the increased recruitment, retention and advancement of diverse faculty, particularly individuals from groups underrepresented in medicine (URiM), at HMS and to oversee all diversity activities involving Harvard Medical School (HMS) faculty, trainees, students and staff.

This is achieved through efforts that support the career development of junior faculty and fellows; train leaders in academic medicine and health policy; provide programs that address crucial pipeline issues, and sponsor awards and recognitions that reinforce behaviors and practices that are supportive of diversity, inclusion, mentoring, and faculty development. In addition, DICP activities support the Faculty Development and Diversity Task Force recommendations, particularly as they relate to mentoring, professional development and the design, creation and monitoring of workforce metrics. DICP also acts as a central resource for faculty development and diversity efforts of Harvard Catalyst | The Harvard Clinical and Translational Science Center through the Program for Faculty Development and Diversity Inclusion (PFDD).

Minority Faculty Development Program:

Recognizing the importance of addressing issues that impact faculty recruitment, impede faculty advancement and thwart faculty retention, in 1990, HMS initiated the Minority Faculty Development Program (MFDP). The MFDP, a component of DICP, offers consistent programming that is responsive to identified needs of individuals and institutions and serves as a nexus for collaborative work among HMS, HMS-affiliate faculty development programs and/or diversity/multicultural affairs offices. In addition, MFDP addresses issues of increasing the pool of minority and disadvantaged students interested in careers in science and medicine, and has built a three-pronged effort to encourage URiM and disadvantaged students from all levels of the educational pipeline to pursue biomedical, STEM and health-related careers. Programs begin as early as the middle school level and carry on through the postgraduate level and involve curriculum development, teacher training, enhancing student research, and career development. DICP/MFDP's work addresses HMS' relationship with the community (internal and external) through the provision of programs that link HMS faculty, trainees and students with local, regional and national community-related activities.

NEIGHBORHOOD INFORMATION

NEIGHBORHOOD DESCRIPTIONS

Back Bay

Characterized by its old-fashioned brownstone houses, Parisian-style boulevards, tree-lined sidewalks, trendy shops, and tourist attractions, the Back Bay is a beautiful place to live. Back Bay features Copley Square, The Boston Common and Gardens, and the Charles River. Newbury Street is also located in the Back Bay, which boasts some of Boston's best shopping. Advantages of Back Bay include its proximity to BU's Medical Campus, offering many students the opportunity to either walk or bike to school. As with everything that is good, it has its drawbacks. Parking is very difficult, and the rent can tend to get a bit expensive. The area stretches from the heart of BU's Charles River campus to the Boston Gardens.

Beacon Hill

Located in the heart of Boston, Beacon Hill is home to Suffolk University, Massachusetts General Hospital, and a short walk from the Financial District and Government Center. The area features 19th and 20th century brownstones, cobblestone streets, old-fashioned narrow alleyways and occasional park-like areas with big trees. Because of its central location and Charles Street "T" stop on the Red Line, Beacon Hill also allows easy access to all of Boston's activities. Consequently, this desirable, historic area is crowded, expensive, and the apartments are usually small. Due to narrow streets and overcrowding, parking is minimal.

Brookline Village

Brookline Village is one of the neighborhoods in Brookline that is within walking distance of the Longwood Medical Area, going south on Brookline Avenue. Here, too, you will find a wide range of ethnic and specialty restaurants. It is accessible by the subway. (Brookline Village stop on the D Green Line).

Coolidge Corner

One of the two neighborhoods in Brookline that are very close to the Longwood Medical Area, the other being Brookline Village. There is a wide range of ethnic and specialty restaurants here, and a variety of shops selling shoes, clothes, books and gifts. It is accessible by subway (Coolidge Corner train on the Green Line) and by bus (Route 66, 65 and 60).

Dorchester

As Boston's largest community, Dorchester remains very much a residential neighborhood. Due to its size, Dorchester has several smaller communities within it. Rental prices in Dorchester are generally reasonable. Regal Victorians, triple-deckers, and waterfront spots in Savin Hill and Columbia Point offer an array of housing choices. Portions of Dorchester near the Harbor tend to be more expensive than their inland and more densely populated counterparts. . Transportation along the Red Line is reliable and traveling time depends on the location and time of day, usually around 10-25 minutes. Some buses also pass by Boston Medical Center and Dudley Square Bus Station.

Fenway

The Fenway, perhaps best known as the home for the "boys of summer," is more than just a ballpark. It is actually a dense urban neighborhood with a considerable amount of green space (the "Fens"). Although the Fenway consists of a large number of college students, it also contains a significant population of professionals, young and old. The famous, or infamous, Lansdowne Street, bordering the Mass Pike on the North and Fenway Park on the South, is home to many of Boston's most popular clubs and watering holes. If you travel the street, however, keep your eyes open for the occasional home run ball that clears the green monster.

Jamaica Plain

At the southern edge of Boston, there lies an inclusive and diverse location. A place where art and ideas are shared freely. It is a dynamic community with the luxury of a beautiful neighborhood. The hustle and bustle on Centre Street is balanced by the cool breeze off Jamaica pond and the enhancing greenery in the Arnold Arboretum.

Mission Hill

Once filled with farms and most of the breweries in Boston, Mission Hill today is an architectural landmark district with a combination of freestanding houses built by early wealthy landowners, blocks of traditional brick row houses, and many triple deckers. Many families and some students and staff from the nearby Longwood Medical Area come to Mission Hill for the affordable rents. A diverse community in proximity to downtown, Mission Hill offers its residents an excellent view of the neighborhood.

Roxbury

A drive through Roxbury is both a history lesson and a tour of a modern urban neighborhood. One of the oldest neighborhoods in Boston, Roxbury has long thrived on its proximity to downtown while retaining its neighborhood qualities. Home to a great number of parks, schools and churches, a visitor can see Boston's history in the architecture and landmarks of the neighborhood. At the same time, Roxbury is a thriving community with a multitude of housing options and a variety of ethnic shops.

South End

Boston Medical Center is located in the South End, so the commute to school, in most cases, is a short walk or bike ride and very convenient. The area is undergoing a renovation and redevelopment, and some beautiful old homes from the past century are being restored, Victorian brick row houses.

SEASONS & STATISTICS

SEASONS

Winter

Winter weather in New England, although beautiful, is not always pleasant as it tends to be quite long and cold. We average only about 5 hours of sunlight per day, in November, December and January. The average temperature during winter months, (November through March) is about 36 degrees Fahrenheit. New England tends to have the most rain during the winter months as well, averaging about 10 inches during the winter. If new to the area, it is always best to remember to wear a lot of layers during the winter months and keep an umbrella in close proximity!

Spring

Spring, (March through May) is usually on the cooler side at the beginning, since winter never seems to want to leave New England! The average temperature is around 48 degrees Fahrenheit. However, when it does warm up toward the middle and latter portions, Boston is quite delightful. Spring, too, tends to be a bit on the wet side with an average of 3.5 inches of rain during these months. A sweater and umbrella are always smart things to leave the house with.

Summer

Summer in New England is humid at times but it is mostly very enjoyable. There are all sorts of festivals, farmers markets and events going on outdoors during this time. The average temperature during Summer (June through August) is about 71 degrees Fahrenheit. Summer definitely cures the effects of Seasonal Affective Disorder with an average of 10 hours of sunlight per day. Boston averages only about 3 inches of rain during these months so put away the umbrella and pull out the shorts! All good things must come to an end, so enjoy the three months of summer because Fall arrives as soon as September does.

Fall

If you are a "leafer," or someone who enjoys the fall foliage, then you are definitely going to appreciate fall in and around Boston. With crisp, sunny days and cool nights, fall wear includes sweaters and fleeces. With an average of 3.5 inches of rain, it's also a good time to bring back the umbrella.
